Who Was Harvey & Why Does He Have a Day?

Some of these celebration days make me cock my head and wonder why? So I do a little research. Here's the scoop.

November 8th recognizes a fruity and spirited cocktail made with 3 parts vodka, 1 part Galliano* (great, now I have to look that up), & 6 parts orange juice. Pour it into a highball glass and garnish with an orange slice and a maraschino cherry. And now, the rest of the story...

Donato "Duke" Antone, was a famous bartender in Hollywood, who created several famous drinks—the Rusty Nail, White Russian & Flaming Russian. According to Duke, in 1952, a surfer named Harvey Wallbanger inspired the cocktail when, after a wild Laguna Beach party, all that remained was vodka, Galliano, & orange juice. When the party-goers left, Harvey remained, banging his head against the wall.

Only in California...
