Babies Come When THEY Want To!

Before Christmas I was asked to play for a wedding on July 2nd. When I found out later that our daughter was expecting a baby in July, the bride's mother freaked out! "The baby's not due until July 29th", I calmly told the bride's mother, to which she replied, "Baby's don't know when they're due!" Well, she's either a prophet or a witch, because the baby arrived July 2nd—28 days early—exactly when she predicted. Luckily, Kathryn's dad was there to hang out with her (just by chance) and got to drive her to the hospital (hubby was working out of town). Also lucky that her Dad didn't know it was "National Unassisted Homebirth Week".

Ok, now on to important stuff!
