

What is Proper Elevator Etiquette?

Have you ever noticed that an elevator is one of the last quiet places in public? I'm not sure why, but people rarely talk in elevators. Is it because they don't know the other folks? If they DO know someone, is it because they don't want anyone to know their business? Well, this week, we "celebrate" National Talk in An Elevator Day. I personally can talk to anybody (and can usually get them to talk back), but I know that some of you are a tad more reserved, so, to help you, I have a few fun ice-breakers that are perfect for these sometimes awkward situations.

- ☺ Whistle the first seven notes of "It's a Small World" incessantly.
- ☺ Offer nametags to everyone getting on the elevator. Wear yours upside down.
- ☺ Greet everyone getting on with a handshake and ask them to call you Admiral.
- ☺ Meow occasionally.
- ☺ Look in your purse & ask, "got enough air in there?"
- ☺ Announce: "I've got on new socks!"
- ☺ Start a sing-along.
- ☺ Play the harmonica.
- ☺ Say "Ding!" at each floor.
- ☺ Bring a folding chair & sit.
- ☺ Listen to the elevator walls with a stethoscope.

Okay, so maybe they'll just make the ride MORE awkward, but somebody will get a giggle...even if it's only you.
