

June is Full of LOTS of Fun Things

Sorry, folks, but this is one of those weeks when I can't just pick one thing on which to comment, because there are SO MANY! So, in the spirit of letting my wild brain wander, here goes...

What's up with "Accordion Awareness Month"? Does this mean we are supposed to stop and be aware that accordions exist? Should we find a local band with an accordion player and go listen to them play? Will the local radio stations be adding polka music to their playlist? This could be frightening.

Bathroom Reading Month? So, are we only allowed to read in the bathroom? That's going to mean a lot of soaking in the tub or...well, I'll leave that alone...

Turkey Lovers Month? Is this referring to the bird or the Dorks (aka "turkeys") who live among us?

Hole In My Bucket Day? Does this reference the song or are we to check our buckets for holes?

How do we celebrate Heimlich Maneuver Day? Should I wander the streets looking for potential choking victims to assist? Or should I register for a class this month?

California Avocado Month? Does this mean I'm not allowed to eat Mexican Avocados? Or ones from any other state?

World Naked Bike Ride Month? Is there just one big event? Are there folks riding in random places all month? Is there a place to go sit in a lounge chair with a cold beverage and just watch this? (asking for a friend)

Oscar the Grouch Day & Say Something Nice Day? Is it just me or is it odd that these two fall on the same day?

National Rocky Road Day? Does this refer to the ice cream or the roads in Lexington?

National Cheese Day? Is this a day for eating cheese? Getting your picture made? Or saying something cheesy?

Ok, now on to important stuff!
