

Silly Sayings Day is Coming!

Ah, life in the South! It's filled with great food, wonderful people, & some bizarre sayings—many involving farm animals. As our community gets more and more folks moving in from other parts of the country it's fun to see their reactions to things we've been saying all of our lives. Some are silly and some are veiled insults. Either way, here are a few ways to stump our new friends from up north.

- My eyeballs are floating.
- She's madder than a wet hen.
- His elevator doesn't go all the way to the top floor.
- He's about as useful as a trap door in a canoe.
- He's only got one oar in the water.
- Butter my butt & call me a biscuit.
- She's as nervous as a cat in a room full of rocking chairs.
- He don't know whether to scratch his watch or wind his butt.
- He's tougher than a $2 steak.
- I'm as fine as frog's hair split three ways.
- He's got a burr in his saddle.
- I'm as full as a tick.
- I'm so hungry my belly thinks my throat's been cut.

- She fell out of the ugly tree and hit every branch on the way down.
- She's so ugly she'd make a freight train take a dirt road.
- I'm as busy as a one-armed paper hanger.
- I'm as poor as a church mouse.
- He's a little rough around the edges, but he's got the best personality.
- Why, don't that beat all?
- Hold your horses!
- If common sense was lard, most folks wouldn't be able to grease a pan.
- Her biscuit's not done in the middle.
- She's not the sweetest cookie in the batch, but we love her.
- She's always been a little different.
- Bless your heart!
